- 01:03:25 Mike Barnett: Any questions?
- 01:04:05 Jury Gualandris: I have a question from Gonzalo, if possible
- 01:06:41 Maria Montes-Sancho: Can Jury elaborate a little more on the geographical finding? I am guessing that culture issues can play something, but also the type of legal system. Common-law countries are high shareholder-oriented, while civil law countries are more stakeholder. The ESG disclosure are discretion of the managers, so they will take care of what they disclosure, specially on common-law tradition countries.
